

Light bearer- kineticist of this archetype tend to be of hope and joy to those around them. Seeking out to aid and support those that are close to them and even those that aren't. You can tell these kineticist are attuned to Mount Celestia by their eyes. Their eyes glow as if made from the stars themselves.

3rd Level

A light bearer is able to take proficiency in religion or medicine. You will gain expertise in the chosen skill at level 10.

Gift From Another World: Outside of being able to gather power from the elements around them. A light bearer is able to channel into the plane of Mount Celestia. By doing a 1 minute ritual, they gain a Light mote per minute. You can spend these motes to exchange for 1 burn point. You can gain up to your Constitution modifier in a day, and can only hold up to your Proficiency bonus at a time. These motes float around you like little fairies.

Healing Infusion: A kineticist of this archetype gains the ability to heal their allies with their kinetic blasts. By burning 3 that can't be reduced, this kineticist can heal a target for their blast damage instead.

7th level

Regenerative Rest: Once per long rest, when a kineticist chooses to spend their hit die they can remove burn equal to the amount of die spent. This feature increases to remove 2 burn per die at level 15. This effect does remove infusions that last until burn is removed.

10th level

Motes Expansion: After finishing a long rest, a kineticist gains light motes equal to $\frac{1}{2}$ their proficiency bonus rounded down that doesn't count towards the maximum earned. Additionally a kineticist can spend a light mote to have their healing kinetic blast heal all allies within a 15ft radius for half their kinetic blast damage.

15th level

Bearer of Light: Upon reaching this level gain the following effects:

- You can earn up to double your Constitution Modifier of light motes in a day.
- The cost of your healing infusion is reduced by 1.
- Your Light motes now reduce your burn cost by 3 when used on an infusion.
